CHAPTER 9. CONFERENCE

50. The Conference is the supreme controlling and governing body of the KFF, convened by the Executive Committee annually. The conference may be Regular or Extraordinary. The conference held for the purpose of electing after the expiration of the four-year term of office the President or members of the Executive Committee is called an Elective Conference.

51. The conference can be held in the form of in-person, correspondence and online meetings. The form of holding a meeting of the Conference is established by order of the President or decision of the Executive Committee.

52. The Conference meeting is held in person with the voting members of the KFF physically present.

53. The absentee form of the Conference meeting is held without the physical presence of voting members, through the use of voting ballots on agenda items on paper or in the form of an electronic document.

54. The online meeting of the Conference is held through the use of technical means of communication. An online meeting must be conducted using a secure online platform and provided that advance notice has been given to all members of the meeting and all members participating in the meeting can actually speak and hear each other at the same time.

55. Before the start of an online meeting of the Conference (after checking the required quorum), voting members must expressly confirm their consent to hold the meeting in an online format. This consent of the members of the Association is reflected in the minutes of the relevant meeting.

56. The regulations for the use of technical means of communication during an online meeting of the Conference are approved by order of the General Secretary. The technical means of communication used to participate in meetings of the KFF governing bodies must ensure the possibility of identifying the participants in the meeting, as well as verifying the powers of the participants in the meeting.

57. If a meeting is recorded in person or online using audio or video recording, all participants in the meeting are informed about this, and the corresponding recording of the meeting has equal legal force with the protocol prepared on paper. If during a meeting, for technical reasons beyond the control of the organizers and participants of the meeting, this condition cannot be ensured, but the majority can still speak and hear each other at the same time, the meeting continues, and the participants who did not have the temporary technical ability to speak and hear, send the results of their voting on paper or in the form of an electronic document.

58. The meeting is held in absentia by using voting ballots, provided that all materials on the agenda are sent to the members of the KFF. The final agenda and materials of the Conference are sent at least 15 (fifteen) calendar days before the date of its holding. Based on the results of such a meeting, a protocol is drawn up, which has the same legal force as the protocol of the in-person meeting of the Conference.

59. The provisions of present Statute governing the holding of an in-person meeting of the Conference with regard to issues of organization and sending notifications to members about the meeting and agenda, the required quorum, decision-making processes, etc., apply identically to online and absentee meetings of the Conference.

60. The place and date of the meeting of the Regular Conference is determined by the Executive Committee at least 30 (thirty) calendar days before the date of its holding.

61. The organization of the work of the Conference is entrusted to the General Secretary. All questions and proposals of KFF members intended for inclusion in the agenda of the Regular Conference must be sent to the KFF in writing no later than 20 (twenty) calendar days before the date of the Conference.

62. The agenda of the Regular Conference approved by the Executive Committee is sent to the members of the KFF no later than 15 (fifteen) calendar days before the date of the Conference.

63. KFF Members must confirm their participation in the Conference indicating the details (full name) of the delegate by sending a written notification to the KFF no later than 3 (three) calendar days before the date of the Conference.

64. The agenda of the Regular Conference must necessarily include the following points:

- 1) welcoming speech of the President;
- 2) approval of the agenda;
- 3) appointment of 3 (three) persons to count votes during the Conference;
- 4) appointment of 3 (three) delegates to review the minutes of the previous Conference;

- 13) making decisions on the creation and termination of the activities of its branches and representative offices;
- 14) making a decision on the entry of new members into the KFF and making a decision on the exclusion of members from the KFF;
- 15) making decisions on issues proposed by the Executive Committee or members of the KFF for approval at the Conference in accordance with the provisions of present Statute;
- 16) approval of the rules of procedure for holding the Conference, as well as amendments to them.

69. Issues falling within the exclusive competence of the Conference cannot be transferred to other bodies of the KFF.

70. Elections of candidates are carried out by secret ballot. If the number of candidates is equal to or less than the number of vacant seats, the Conference may decide to hold elections by open ballot.

71. When holding elections, a person is considered elected in the first round if an absolute majority votes for him (half the votes plus one). If the first round does not determine the winner, a second round is held where the person voted for by a simple majority (majority vote) is elected. The two candidates who received the most votes in the first round advance to the second round.

72. Elections of the President are held before the elections of the remaining members of the Executive Committee. All members of the Executive Committee are elected on an individual basis.
